KOHLER Continues Successful Rollout of KD Series of Industrial Generators

Company hosts Open House events in conjunction with dealers and distributors around the world

KOHLER, Wis. (July 19, 2017) – Excitement surrounding the availability of the KOHLER KD Series of industrial generators continues to build as the company hosts informational open house events in partnership with its dealers and distributors around the globe. By the end of the year, Kohler anticipates holding more than 100 events worldwide to celebrate the rollout of its new, high performance KD Series. Each event includes networking and entertainment, educational sessions, and a live product demonstration for key decision makers in targeted industries.

The KOHLER KD Series is now available worldwide under the KOHLER and KOHLER-SDMO brands. The 800kW to 4000kW industrial line is designed to deliver extreme durability and ultimate reliability in a variety of emergency and prime applications. Targeted industries include: data centers, healthcare, water treatment, oil and gas, telecommunications, mining, and more.

“Being involved with these events has been rewarding because everyone who sees the KD Series in action walks away with a favorable impression,” said Jim Rummel, senior product manager for Kohler. “These generators deliver significant power in a compact package and are highly customizable to meet an end user’s specific requirements. Based on the responses that I’ve seen, the KD Series is definitely connecting with an important group of customers who are seeking a fresh alternative when it comes to highly efficient, dependable industrial power systems.”
